Where Does Food Come From?

Everything you eat comes from somewhere. Draw a line to connect the food on the left with where it comes from on the right.

The diagram consists of two columns of circular icons, each with a label below it. Lines connect the items as follows:

- apple (left) connects to cow (right)
- carrot (left) connects to ground (right)
- milk (left) connects to wheat (right)
- grapes (left) connects to tree (right)
- eggs (left) connects to chicken (right)
- blueberries (left) connects to vine (right)
- cheese (left) connects to bush (right)
- bread (left) connects to milk (right, the carton)
- yogurt (left) connects to milk (right, the carton)

Build a Better Snack

PART I

Draw a line to connect the appropriate food group to its most important nutrient.

PART III

FRUITS

A. Protein: helps you grow and build strong muscles

VEGETABLES

B. Calcium: builds strong bones and teeth

PROTEIN

C. Vitamin A: for healthy skin and good vision

From MILK to CHEESE

Ever wonder how cheese is made? Read about the cheesemaking process below and then complete the maze.

HOW DOES MILK BECOME CHEESE ?

Milk comes from healthy, well-fed cows that are milked at least twice a day. The milk is then pumped into a refrigerated truck called a "tanker" and taken to a cheese plant, where it is poured into a large vat and thickened until it can be cut into tiny pieces called curds. These curds are then stirred, salted and pressed into forms and shapes, resulting in the final product: Cheese!
